MEMORANDUM FOR: Acting, Director of Training

SUBJECT : Midcareer Course Students

25X1A9a From the group of carefully selected officers who have attended the last three Midcareer Executive Development Courses we wish to call to your attention [REDACTED] Office of Research and Reports, DDI.

25X1A9a Although all of the Midcareerists have demonstrated executive potential to varying degrees, [REDACTED] is one of a small number who made a most favorable impression during each phase of the Midcareer Course. He was articulate and contributed significantly to the Course through active participation. He showed serious interest in a broad range of subjects outside his own field of expertise. He obviously had a lively curiosity and an open mind. He was outgoing, friendly, and at ease with his peers and with guest speakers. In contacts with non-Agency people he was an impressive representative of the Agency.

As you know, there are no formal evaluating mechanisms in the Midcareer Executive Development Course. However, we feel that the observations above, though purely subjective, may be of interest to you.
